

Girl Scouts of Black Diamond Council Sensitive Issues Consent Form

Current events can be unsettling for kids. Maintaining friendships and getting along at school can be tough. Girls of all ages may turn to trusted role models when they have concerns or questions. These kinds of conversations can be challenging, but they are also essential. It's important that girls feel comfortable and supported throughout. When they are at ease, girls can more easily come up with their own viewpoints on difficult and complex subjects. Girls may want to discuss relevant topics at Girl Scout programs, events, troop meetings, etc.

Your Girl Scout will have the opportunity to participate in an age-appropriate program that may feature information and discussion on the following sensitive topics:

Violence Adolescent Pregnancy Politics Substance Abuse Cultural Family Values Sexual Identity Bullying Sexually Transmitted Diseases Emotional and Physical Safety Global Action Religious Beliefs Gender Roles Reproductive Health Other _____

Brief Description of Activity:

During the activity and discussion, if the adult leading the conversation believes that immediate intervention is needed for the well-being of a Girl Scout, they will notify the caregiver.
